Japanese Announce Planes
Over Tokyo; This
Unconfirmed

The U. S. 10th Bomber Command commemorated the third anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack against Pearl Harbor today by sending a large task force of B-29 Superfortresses over southern Manchuria in a daylight blast against enemy industrial centers in that occupied territory.

The first report of the attack was made by the Tokyo radio which reported the Yanks carried out a half-hour blast between 10 and 10:30 o'clock in the morning, Japanese time.

Shortly afterward U. S. headquarters in Washington confirmed the attack and said the sweep was carried out by "a large task force" of Superfortresses.

The Tokyo radio also reported that "three or four" Superfortresses flew over Tokyo itself and

Army is Going to Buy Thousands of Chickens

The Army (buying for all armed services) is 110,000 pounds short in its requirements of chicken for feeding fighters.

That chicken is a good food is well understood. To G. I. Joe—fresh from the front—chicken is many fold more important than its mere food value. Chicken means "Home"—Sunday dinners, tree and easy talk around the table, the right to think and talk as you please. Chicken is a morale food for which there aren't any substitutes. When given to fighters back from the lines it has a way of easing tension and making them forget—for a time, anyhow—the tough, dangerous jobs they're doing.

Active fighters, men in training—and particularly wounded men—are asking for "More chicken, please." No one will argue that they're not entitled to it. Everyone will agree that they must get it. But right now, there's a chicken shortage for feeding fighters. So—

At the request of the Army, the War Food Administration has issued an order that will "set aside" all chickens in some producing areas exclusively for the Army to buy. Chickens that normally went into civilian markets are going to be reserved 100 per cent for Army purchase. Initially, this order will apply to what is known as the Del-Mar-Va peninsula and a section of Virginia and West Virginia. These areas produce large number of broilers and fryers. While the initial order is limited to the areas named above, it is entirely probable that other areas will be included shortly. G. I. Joe is going to get the chicken he wants.

Purchase of practically all the chickens available in the areas named, by the Army, is going to cut down on the supplies of chicken in food stores and restaurants from New York to Richmond. Some chicken—from other areas and from cold storage stocks will be available. Similarly, there is no set aside on ducks, geese, squabs and guineas. Turkey is also somewhat more plentiful. But—there is going to be less chicken, especially fryers and broilers, for civilian in these areas so fighters can have a bigger share.

BRITISH SEIZE IMPORTANT TOWN OF MEZZANO

Rome—The British Eighth Army expanded its drive north of liberated Ravenna today seizing the important highway town of Mezzano and chasing the Germans out of the entire area east of the Lamone River. At the same time the long and bitter battle for the Nazi-held communications hub of Faenza neared a climax as Polish columns, storm-Rinaldo and occupied the town of Brisighella.

In Brisighella, the Poles were only seven miles southwest of Faenza. The town was threatened from the south as the British overcame a series of German counter-thrusts to expand their bridgehead across the Lamone at that point.

AMERICANS BEAT DOWN NAZIS' DESPERATE COUNTER-BLOWS

Paris—With Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army intensifying the assault on the industrial city of Saarbrücken from points only five miles distant, the American Ninth and First Armies in the north beat down desperate German counter-blows today aimed at delaying a Yank crossing of the Roer river onto the plain before Cologne.

Front reports said American tanks forced German panzers into retreat after a heavy five-hour battle near Binning.

The Germans, in last-minute efforts to stave off an onslaught which would enable the Ninth Army to send its armor streaming toward the Rhine, shrouded their movements with a considerable smokescreen.

Gen. Patton's troops tightening their grip on the Saar region smashed into Wehrden, five miles west of Saarbrücken and were in control of two-third of Sarreguemines, to the southeast.

To the People of this Community

Here's straight talk by an industrial editor to his fellow war workers. It is worth your listening to and thinking about tonight after you get through reading the war news.

"It may seem a long way from a foxhole in the Pacific to a cottage in the suburbs, but they're not as far apart as you might think.

"To the boy who looks to his deadly enemy, that foxhole is security.

"To us who stay at home and fight the battle as civilians, the cottage in the suburbs is the security we look forward to when the world is again at peace.

"When the noise of battle dies, when men and women across the world renew their peaceful pursuits, those of us who have invested in War Bonds can step immediately into the future we planned.

"So the foxhole and the cottage in the suburbs aren't so far apart, after all. Different as they seem, they have one common denominator—War Bonds. Extra bonds will move our boys out of the foxholes sooner."

THE EDITOR.

Aged Colored Resident Dies in Phila. Hospital

An aged colored resident died in Mercy Hospital, Philadelphia, yesterday. She is Mrs. Cora Reed, 72, widow of John Reed. Mrs. Reed had been ill for eight months.

Mrs. Reed was a member of Twelfth Temple, B. P. O. E. of W. and of the Post Exalted Rulers Council. She had resided here for her entire lifetime.

Her survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Henry Moore; also a sister and three brothers: Mrs. Alva C. Bullock, Chester F. and Harrison W. Fisher, Philadelphia; John W. and Charles F. Fisher, Bristol; also two grandsons: Rocky Sands, now serving in France; and William Reed, in the U. S. Navy.

The Rev. J. H. Queen, pastor, will conduct the service in Bethel A. M. E. Church on Saturday at two o'clock. Interment will be in Bristol Cemetery with Robert C. Ruchel, funeral director, in charge. Friends may call at the Reed home, 421 Washington street, Friday evening.

PENNSYLVANIANS ARE BUSY IN WAR EFFORT

Industry Working Feverishly
To Turn Out The Materiel

PLAN FOR POST-WAR

This is the second of a series of two articles on Pennsylvania at war.

By James H. Smith
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Three years after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Pennsylvanians were busily engaged producing war material for the United Nations and planning a postwar program designed to make the Commonwealth "a better place in which to live."

While the State's industry worked feverishly today to turn out materiel, the Commonwealth's postwar planning commission reviewed projects prior to making recommendations to Gov. Edward Martin who will present some of them to the General Assembly.

In the past three years, Pennsylvania has made a gigantic contribution to winning the war in ships, planes and munitions. Latest reports by the U. S. War Manpower Commission showed that an estimated 3,138,000 persons were employed in Pennsylvania, of which more than 1,431,000 men and women were working in manufacturing.

NEW HOPE WOMAN ACHIEVED FAME AS COOKIE BAKER; NOW TURNS HER TALENTS TO CERAMICS; HUSBAND JOINS WIFE IN HER NEW INTEREST

NEW HOPE, Dec. 7.—So popular did Mary Pippenger's specially modelled and hand-painted cookies prove last year at the holiday season that orders commenced rolling in this year in spite of the fact that she and her husband have since turned to ceramics.

Mrs. Pippenger's husband, sculptor Robert Pippenger, modelled the cookie dough into angels, religious figures, dancing and peasant girls—royal guardsmen, soldiers, musical instruments, hearts, Mother Goose characters, etc., and it was then that they painted the models with a secret solution to prevent them from losing their shape as they baked. Once out of the oven, Mrs. Pippenger painted them in vegetable colors.

Neighbors commenced buying and Mrs. Pippenger's fame as a baker of special cookies spread. Last season the cookies were sold far and wide. The fair baker sent some to soldiers on Guadalcanal.

But since Christmas of 1943 the Pippengers have turned attention to ceramics, and so occupied has their time been with figures of women on horse-back, dogs, and other animals as novelties to decorate the home that they have had to forget the holiday cookies this season.

Mrs. Pippenger is a former resident of Chicago, Ill., while friend hubby hails from Indiana. They have resided here for 3½ years. The sculptor was studying in Rome when war broke out and it was necessary that he return home.

Cheerful Workers Conduct An Evening Service

NEWPORTVILLE, Dec. 7.—The Cheerful Workers of Newportville Community Church—Presbyterian conducted the evening service in the Church on Sunday.

Mrs. John Lewis announced the numbers. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Edith Reese, and Mrs. Fred Wimmersberger read the scripture. Mrs. James Barclay gave a very interesting talk. Mrs. Lewis read the names of boys in service from the Sunday School, and the parents, wives or sisters responded to the boy's name. The offering was taken by Mrs. H. Backhouse, Mrs. George Emy, Mrs. Charles Everett and Mrs. Clifford Ingraham. Many hymns were sung throughout the service, favorites of the boys. W. Philip Bombower, pastor, dismissed the assemblage with the benediction.

There were two bouquets on the platform, one placed there by the Cheerful Workers, and one by Mrs. C. Everett in memory of Lt. William Kelly, a friend of her son's who was killed in action. These flowers were given to Mr. Childs and Winfield Hogarth, both of Newport Heights, who are ill. The offering was given to the Presbytery for the chaplains' fund for service men.

Timely Discovery Of A Fire Saves School Bldg.

FEASTERVILLE, Dec. 7.—Timely discovery of a fire in a cloak room of the Lower Southampton school, of which Mrs. Zella Frenuth is the principal, on Monday, prevented what might have resulted in the destruction of the entire four-room, one-story structure.

One of the boys, waiting for the school bus after the pupils had been dismissed, went to the cloak room to get his coat, and discovered flames coming up through the floor of the cloak room.

The boy immediately notified Milton Crossdale, the janitor, who with the assistance of neighbors began pouring water on the floor but they were unable to get to the fire, which is of unknown origin.

Unable to do this, they began tearing up the floor, and in the meanwhile calls were sent to the Trevoze Fire Company and the Trevoze Heights Fire Company.

Two Sons Lost, Third To Be Returned To U. S.

POINT PLEASANT, Dec. 7.—With one of their sons listed officially as dead and another presumed to be dead, Mr. and Mrs. Leidy K. Lewis, of near here, have received good news in the form of an announcement from the War Department that their only other son, Pfc. Paul Lewis, 19, who is serving with the Marines in the South Pacific, will be returned for domestic service with the next contingent to be sent home from that area.

Taking recognition of the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have only one son surviving, the War Department has decreed that he shall return to this country for home service. Mrs. Lewis is unable to state when the young man, who took part in the battle on Peleliu, will return.

Mrs. Lewis a few days ago received a brief communication from her son, who suffered a sprained knee in the battle. The young man, who entered the service on November 17, 1943, made no mention of the fact that he will be sent home. He stated he was in good health, and that he had seen his first electric eel, which he described as being immense.

PALS ARE WOUNDED

A narrow escape from capture by the Germans was related by a Morrisville soldier at the American Red Cross Columbia Club in Paris where he spent a short furlough.

The story of Pvt. Joseph Brelsford, Robertson avenue, Morrisville, was relayed this week in a dispatch to the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter, Philadelphia, which is now recruiting men and women for overseas service as recreation and social workers.

"I'm a forward observer for the Field Artillery," said Brelsford, "and I thought that I always saw everything that was happening. But I was so busy observing our own fire that I never realized we were being surrounded by the enemy. The German infantry just infiltrated through our lines and the first thing we knew, they were all about us.

DISPUTE OVER FUTURE

The argument over the future of air and rail transportation which developed at the usually sedate meeting of the Eastern Association of College and University Business Officers in New York City is additional proof that the postwar world is being looked forward to differently by different minds.

Lieut. Col. A. B. Lambdin, business manager of the Connecticut College for Women, said that airline transportation would make railroads "non-existent" in the next half century. Albert B. Brushaber, vice president of Mellon Securities Corporation of Pittsburgh, said that the growth of airlines undoubtedly would affect railroad passenger revenue, but it would never take away their freight traffic.

In the light of the past history of mechanical invention in this country, it would take a daring conservative to put too sharp a limitation on the future of the airplane. Its development in the last few years as a passenger and cargo carrier has been tremendous. But it is still true that the plane is valued mainly for its speed and not because it provides a different medium of transport. There is usually ample time for the transportation by rail or water of such materials as coal, iron ore, steel or cement.

The development and efficiency of the airplane in the near future may be most surprising, but it is doubtful that ordinary freight transportation overland and by water is about to go the way of the dodo.

CLOSED SHOP ISSUE

Florida and Arkansas have written into their constitutions, by vote of the people, amendments which will bar an employer from hiring an applicant for work, or retaining an employee, because he is, or is not, a member of a labor union.

Union moguls fought these proposals bitterly. They defeated a similar proposal in California. But in Florida and Arkansas they colluded with the determination of these states to legalize conditions under which they believe manufacturing industry will be encouraged.

Since the present United States Supreme Court has upheld Federal collective bargaining legislation, and the maintenance of membership has become a fixture by compulsion under wartime powers of the administration, the question as to the constitutionality of these amendments may soon be raised.

But their adoption is a significant development.

COMMUNICATION

Croydon, Dec. 7.

Editor, Courier:

The Sixth War Loan Campaign is on in the Croydon area and the Sponsors' Committee and Girl Scouts report the going is "rugged." It's tough going in the Philippine Islands. It's tough going in Italy. It's tough going within the boundaries of Germany.

THE GHOST OF A SOLDIER BOY

I saw the ghost of a soldier boy. Watching with saddened eye. With hand extended, he was offering you.

A bond for you to buy. His eyes were appealing. There was no concealing. He was imploring you. To buy one bond, it might save the life.

Of some son, whom a mother loves true. Don't turn away. Buy bonds today.

It's the right thing for you to do. Let's gladden the eyes of the boys who give all.

Remember they're fighting for you.

— F. H. BILDERBACK, Bristol, Pa.

Let's face facts. As our armies move forward we lengthen the distance from our base of supplies and more guns, food, ammunition, etc., must be adequately supplied by you and me. Are we going to let our boys and girls down? Don't forget some of them are from our own community. Yes, even from our own homes.

You say that you can't afford a War Bond because it's too near Christmas. This makes it hard for G. I. Joe and his pals. Christmas to him in the front lines will be just another day if we fail to support him by backing the attack. He will be glad to get the box of presents that you sent him so long ago, but he will be thinking of home and what the folks back home are doing to get him back for next Christmas.

Give War Bonds as Christmas presents. You will be giving two presents at once, one to the persons receiving them and the other for equipment for the men and women in the armed services.

Croydon area has raised $16,650 to December 1st, and we have 19 days to make our quota of $50,000. It can and will be done.

December 11th we will have a rally at the Ritz Theatre. Admission will be by purchase of War Bonds—one admission for each $25 bond. Children under 14 will be admitted on purchase of 50 cents in War Stamps at the Ritz Theatre or through the Girl Scouts Bondaleers and Sponsors' Committee.

High grade talent and movies will entertain you for your support of the Sixth War Loan Campaign. Come out and support Croydon's effort in a patriotic endeavor.

JAMES E. HARRIS, Chairman, Croydon Area

Tells of Desperate Condition of World

The guest speaker who returned from Washington two days ago after attending a meeting of the nation's outstanding editors, reported that one of the very first things that Secretary Stettinius has done is to approve the plan of the Congress of Editors regards for world peace.

Newspapermen, heads of the great news services in session last week went on record that if news, as reported daily in the papers of this country, could get all around the world, in every country—published as it is here—that great strides would be made in our peace plan.

Secretary Stettinius approved this idea and has already appointed a committee of editors and publishers to start a world survey immediately. Dean Ackerman was appointed a member of this committee yesterday and will interview publishers in all parts of the world.

Dean Ackerman recently returned from an air trip to Central America, Cuba and Panama. He commented that he was impressed with the quantity of food found in Central America.

"I can also report that we are beginning to meet competition in Central America, with Mexico," Dean Ackerman said. "Mexico, mind you, is producing motion pictures that are more popular in Central America than those made in the United States. Mexico is sending doctors and surgeons to Central American capitals. Mexico, the one country that we least suspected to ever be a competitor of ours."

Chungking is increasing in population at the rate of 1,000 a day. There are no beds for the new-comers and the food is very, very scarce. People are living in caves.

Let's face facts. As our armies move forward we lengthen the distance from our base of supplies and more guns, food, ammunition, etc., must be adequately supplied by you and me. Are we going to let our boys and girls down? Don't forget some of them are from our own community. Yes, even from our own homes.

Recent experiences of Hugh Bailey, United Press correspondent in Germany, were related by Dean Ackerman, who spent a few days with him in Washington last week, following Bailey's return from Aachen, Germany, where he was two weeks ago.

"The new German bomb is really something to talk about," Dean Ackerman said. "Bailey tells me that he was in the Savoy Hotel in London 10 days ago and was dressing for dinner when he and his newspaper friends heard a terrific explosion that virtually shook the hotel. They had expected to see a large part of the city overturned, he said. Then Bailey investigated. Five miles from London, where they hurried by car, they saw where the German bomb had struck, destroying a complete city block of houses and making a crater in the earth 30 feet deep and 50 feet across the top. That was five miles from where they had felt the bomb hit."

Dean Ackerman reported that both sides of the lines in Germany at the present time—Allies and the Nazis—are using loud speakers at the front, making appeals for the soldiers of the other side to desert, and telling why.

Dean Ackerman, who was a co-founder with Dr. Hollington K. Tong of the first Graduate School of Journalism in Chungking, China, stated that the situation in China is "very desperate indeed."

"Living conditions in Chungking are almost beyond description," Dean Ackerman said. "In the main hotel of Chungking where I was two years ago, the picture today is awful. There is one bath for 50 guests in this hotel, and the main occupants of the place are rats. A cat costs 10,000 Chinese dollars, and it is now the custom to buy a cat and tie it fast to your bed, like you would a dog, and then you may be able to get some sleep as the cat takes care of the rats. And the spiders are just as bad."

"The first graduation exercises of our Graduate School of Journalism in Chungking took place just three weeks ago. The graduates have been placed as newspaper correspondents at the front, and in charge of news service branches, while some have been attached to the American Army."

"And I can also report that our own American planes, the big ones, have established almost continuous service—at 10 minute intervals—across the 'Hump' from India to China over the top of the Himalaya Mountains. These big planes are carrying supplies to that war theatre. Five years ago it was indeed an event for one single plane to make this trip, now the big planes are operating at 10-minute intervals!"

"What is going to happen in China in the next few months, I cannot predict at this time, but I know that we must do what we can to keep the Japs out, or this war will be greatly prolonged."

Twenty members of the Doylestown Kiwanis Club attended the meeting. Two years ago the two clubs met in a similar meeting at Doylestown and Dean Ackerman was the speaker at that time. Last night he promised to come back with his friends in Lambertville and talk again after his next world trip which will start very shortly.

Announcement was made last night by the secretary of the Lambertville Kiwanis Club—Walter Reitz—that his club had sold War Bonds to a total of $333,200 since the first drive, and a total of $7,625 in War Stamps, a record in the State of New Jersey.

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service
HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin's expectation of a "short and businesslike" session of the General Assembly in 1945 may be realized but past records show legislators usually have tossed aside all good intentions after the session was underway. . . . In 1941, lawmakers were not only at odds among themselves but with former Gov. Arthur H. James and consequently were in session for 191 days, longest meeting in 99 years. . . . In 1943, Governor Martin put the Assembly on a war footing but final adjournment came only after a 124-day session.

Since the adoption in 1873 of the Constitution now guiding the Commonwealth, there have been 37 regular legislative sessions and 3 extraordinary meetings. . . . The longest regular session, of course, was in 1941 while the shortest was in 1875. . . . The longest extraordinary session was recorded in 1883 when lawmakers sat for 183 days to apportion Pennsylvania into Senatorial and Representative districts. Shortest special session was held in 1936 when the Assembly met for five days and approved a program of unemployment compensation.

Since the General Assembly began functioning in 1791, there have been 23 special sessions of the General Assembly and one extraordinary meeting of the Senate. . . . The first was held in 1791 when Governor Thomas Mifflin convened the lawmakers at Philadelphia to consider his recommendations for appropriating funds to pay an army to repel French and Indians on the western frontier of the state and to plan internal improvements. . . . The last session was called by Governor Martin to revise the Commonwealth's soldier voting act. . . . The only time the Senate was convened separately from the House was in 1891 when Gov. Robert E. Pattison asked the Senators to investigate the conduct of the State Treasurer, Auditor General and several Philadelphia magistrates. . . . The last major House investigation was held in 1938 when a Democratic-controlled committee looked into charges of graft involving the Earle Administration and subsequently issued a clean bill of health.

The Martin Administration is preparing a strong offensive against a proposal in the U. S. Senate to favor southwestern industry after the war at the expense of northern manufacturing states. . . . Such a move would hit Pennsylvania hard because it is one of the leading industrial states in the union. . . . The jobs of two-and-a-half million workers would be jeopardized, according to some sources, if the McCarran proposal is adopted. . . . Attorney General James H. Duff is conducting a quiet survey of the situation and has promised the Governor a detailed report soon.

RECIPES

Ground Pork with Chili and Beans

1/2 lb. lean pork, ground
2 green peppers, sliced thin
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon fat
1 1/2 tablespoons chili powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups (or 1 can) cooked kidney beans

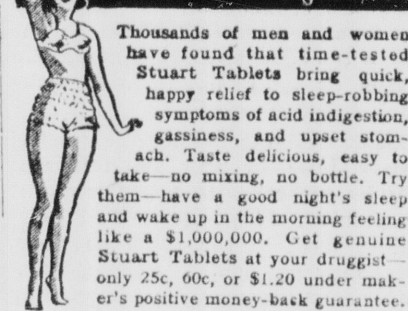

Melt fat in a heavy frying pan, fry garlic until golden brown, then add the pork and stir until evenly browned. Stir in the chili powder, then the peppers, salt and kidney beans. Add the liquid in which the beans were cooked. Cover and simmer over low heat for one hour. Stir occasionally, adding a little more liquid if necessary. Serves 2 to 3.

Note: Any ground left-over meat may be used in this recipe instead of the fresh pork.

Middle American Pot Roast

2 lb. piece of beef, lean
2 tablespoons fat
1 clove garlic, minced
1 onion, sliced
1 green pepper, sliced
3 large tomatoes, diced
1 can tomato sauce (1 cup)

Thousands of men and women have found that time-tested Stuart Tablets bring quick, happy relief to sleep-robbing symptoms of acid indigestion, gasiness, and upset stomach. Taste delicious, easy to take—no mixing, no bottle. Try them—have a good night's sleep and wake up in the morning feeling like a $1,000,000. Get genuine Stuart Tablets at your drugstore—only 25c, 60c, or $1.20 under maker's positive money-back guarantee. (Advertisement)

2 teaspoons chili powder
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon salt
Cayenne or black pepper.
Brown meat on all sides in the hot fat. Transfer to a large saucepan with a tight fitting cover. Add the onion, garlic, green pepper and tomatoes. Mix the chili powder, ginger, salt and pepper together and stir into the tomato sauce. Pour the sauce over the meat. Cover and allow to simmer over low heat for about 3 hours. Serves 4 to 6.

Avocado Ice Cream

1/2 pkg. Junket ice cream mix
1/2 pint light cream
1 ripe avocado
1 tablespoon lime juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lime rind.
Press avocado pulp through a fine sieve, add the lime juice and rind and whip until smooth and creamy. Put the cream in a bowl, add the ice cream mix and beat until thickened (it will not get stiff), then stir the avocado mixture in thoroughly. Pour into a shallow tray and freeze quickly with the cold control set at the lowest point. When the ice cream is frozen, set the control back to normal, and allow to "ripen" for several hours. Serves four.

SUGAR SAVERS FOR HOLIDAYS

Holiday cookies will be as much in demand as before because candy is scarce this winter. Delicious molasses bars are an old-fashioned cookie that will take care of the sweet tooth but not put a dent into the sugar supply.

A bar type of cookie will save time in baking because all the batter may be poured into an enameled pan and baked. After the cookie is baked, it may be cut and left in the pan until ready for use. This will keep the cookie moist and flavorful.

Molasses Raisin-Nut Bars

1/3 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg

DON'T FORGET AN EXTRA BOND

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Howard L. Zepp
Winder Village

Lord, God of hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget.

We wonder today if we shall ever forget Pearl Harbor and that day of infamy. We find ourselves nursing bitterness and fashioning the cold, cruel steel of hatred. Therefore we commend our nation to the guidance of Thy wisdom, to the keeping of Thy love. We believe that Thou wilt truly bless us when we re-kindle our hatred, not of people, but of ideas and policies of injustice and oppression. Save us today from all prejudice, fear or frenzy. Fill our hearts with Thy grace and truth that we may have no hatred or bitterness toward anyone. Make us realize that deep-rooted prejudice adds to the weight of the world's sin. We pray that understanding and good will may soon come to our world. Thou hast called us to a place of trust and responsibility throughout the world. Give us the courage which our times demand. Let our will be good will, our ways the ways of peace. Keep us diligent in friendliness, eager in creative work. Amen.

RECIPES

Angel Cake
8 egg whites
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
1 cup pastry flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
Beat egg whites slightly. Add cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Add the sifted sugar gradually, beating constantly. Fold in the flour and salt which have been sifted together 4 times. Add vanilla. Pour into a tube pan and bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Turn upside down on a cake cooler and let stand until the cake drops out.

Popovers
1 cup flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 tbsp. melted shortening
Mix and sift flour and salt. Add milk gradually. Add beaten egg and shortening. Beat batter five minutes with a Dover egg beater. Pour batter into greased hot iron pop-over pans or hot greased earthen cups. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Reduce heat to a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) and bake 15 minutes. Do not open oven door for the first 15 minutes of baking. This recipe makes 8 to 10 popovers.

Scalloped Cabbage
3 cups cooked shredded cabbage
2 cups medium white sauce

1 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup grated cheese
Mix cabbage and white sauce together. Put layer of cabbage in a greased baking dish, add a layer of crumbs and repeat process until all the ingredients are used. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 20 minutes or until brown.

TULLYTOWN
Mrs. Charles McTamanay and daughter, Morrisville, were Monday visitors of Mrs. Catherine Slager.

British Eighth Army stepped up their attack against Nazi positions for gains along most of the front. The Russians blasted through southwestern Hungary along a 150-mile front to clear the entire southern shore of Lake Balaton of Germans and jab spearheads across the muddy Hungarian plains to hit the more than 40 miles from the Austrian border.

Moscow sources revealed that despite extremely bad weather the Russians had ploughed through southwestern Hungary for 95 miles in seven days at a speed greater than the German blitz through Poland and France in the early days of the war.

A major tank battle was reported in the region of Singling and Rohlach some eight miles to the southeast of the key city of Saarbrücken, most of which was said in front reports to be held by the Americans.

American First Army forces southeast of Aachen beat down three savage German counter-attacks which were launched in a futile attempt to recapture the town of Berksstein while the Ninth Army broke up a concentration of German columns preparing to block a Yank push across the Roer toward Cologne.

Meanwhile the U. S. Seventh and French First Armies drew their trap around the Germans in the Vosges Mountains tighter with advances which closed the escape gap to less than 18 miles.

The Seventh Army fought its way through blinding snow storms in the passes of the Vosges and through flooded valleys to enter Osthelm, nine miles north of Colmar.

At last reports, the Yanks and Germans in Osthelm were locked in a savage street battle for possession of the town. Meanwhile, unconfirmed reports said the French had driven north of Munster, also nine miles from Colmar.

The British Air Ministry announced that more than 1,300 RAF heavy bombers blasted the German rail centers of Osnabrück and Giessen and attacked the synthetic oil plants at Leuna, Berlin also was attacked.

Pvt. DeWitt Spencer, 20, colored, suffered wounds in action in France, his parents, Herbert and Martha Spencer, of Bridgewater, Bensalem Township, have been informed.

The young man, member of the U. S. Army Infantry, has been overseas for more than a year. Following hospitalization in France he was sent to England for further treatment. His parents have already received from him his Purple Heart medal.

Spencer was born in Philadelphia. He has been in service about two years.

PA. HENS MAINTAIN FINE PRODUCTIONS

Monthly Records Good; 172,000,000 Eggs During October

INCREASE IN YEAR

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7 — Pennsylvania hens were maintaining good monthly production records for 1944 with 172,000,000 during October, a 16,000,000 increase over the same month in 1943.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said individual output was up one egg and attributed much of the increase to unseasonably mild weather. Pullet and hen population on the State's farms was 380,000 greater than last year.

Commercial poultrymen complained they received 11 per cent less for eggs during October and paid two per cent more per 100 pounds for feed compared with 1943. A 100-pound bag of meal cost the equivalent of 85 eggs, they claimed.

The decline in milk production halted momentarily in October following the revival of pastures by late September rains, according to the Department of Agriculture.

A November 1 survey indicated milk production kept pace with the previous month for the first time since January, 1943. The percentage of cows milked was one point above that a year ago.

Late grain reports revealed considerable corn to be husked with the total crop estimated at 53,124,000 bushels, an eight per cent gain over last year.

The winter wheat and oats crop.

59 per cent larger this year, was reported doing well. Rye jumped seven per cent over last year's harvest, while barley dropped 15 per cent and hay seven per cent.

SHORT CUTS IN COOKING ACCOUNT FOR TIME SAVED

By Mary Jacoby Fleetham
Home Economics Representative
Nutritious meals that are easily and quickly prepared, yet look and taste good, are important these days when homemakers are busy with community and home activities.

Much time can be saved by planning ahead. This may not mean writing down the week's menus at one time, but homemakers ought to keep in mind such foods as the main dish and vegetables. Weekly shopping also is a time-saver.

Homemakers who have well-stocked storage cupboards may like to put canned and other stored foods that will be required for the week on a small table. This also insures the use of needed foods. By taking a basket or tray to the cellar all the foods needed for the day can be carried in one trip.

Oven meals save much time and do not need as careful watching as those cooked on top of the stove. Select a main dish, one or two vegetables and a dessert. Meat loaves, roasts, or baked ham; baked or scalloped potatoes; another vegetable cooked in a covered dish with a small amount of water; baked apples, brown Betty puddings, upside-down cake, gingerbread, fruit pies, nut bread, are good foods for oven meals. If a hot dessert is not desired, it may be served at another meal. Broiler meals, using canned or leftover vegetables, are popular as quick meals.

Cooking potatoes with skins on

and vegetables whole or in large pieces saves time in preparation. Cooking vegetables in a covered pan in a small amount of water, starting with water boiling, shortens the cooking time.

When making muffins, measure out twice the amount of dry ingredients at one time. Add milk, fat and egg to half the dry ingredients. The rest may be put in a covered dish and stored for several days in the refrigerator. This procedure may be followed in making baking powder biscuits or pie crust. In this case the shortening can be cut into the dry ingredients before storing.

Roast Turkey

Singe, dress, wash and wipe the turkey with a damp cloth. Slip back the skin from the neck and cut off neck close to body. The skin will turn back and keep in the stuffing. Cut off the tips of wings and cook neck, wings, gizzard, and liver in water to cover, to use for the gravy. Fill the turkey with a chosen stuffing. Tie in shape with wings and legs close to the body. Spread with melted shortening and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Put in a roasting pan in a quick oven (45 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Add 1 cup water. Reduce heat to moderate oven (350 degrees) and cook

Celery and Olive Stuffing

3 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped olives
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/8 tsp. paprika
Few drops onion juice
3 tbsps. shortening

Mix bread crumbs, celery, olives, salt, pepper, paprika and onion juice. Moisten with shortening, melted in hot water. Mix thoroughly.

Peanut Stuffing

3 cups soft bread crumbs
3/4 cup chopped peanuts
1/2 cup onion juice
1 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
1 tbsps. chopped parsley
2 tbsps. shortening
1/2 cup stock or water

Mix bread crumbs and peanuts. Add onion juice, salt, parsley and pepper. Moisten with shortening melted in hot water. Mix thoroughly.

Currant Spice Cake

3/4 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
4 eggs
3 cups flour
3 tsp. baking powder

1 tsp. salt
3/4 cup milk
2 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. clove
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
3/4 cup currants

Cream shortening, sugar and egg yolks together. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt, and spices; and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Add vanilla and currants. Bake in a greased loaf or round pan in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 60 to 80 minutes. Cover with boiled frosting.

Boiled Frosting

2 cups sugar

A safe deposit box for food

In the years ahead, fresh vegetables, meats, fruits, all can be bought when plentiful and kept safely until used.

Electrically-operated food freezing units at your favorite grocery store or nearby food-locker plant will combine with home freezing units to make this year-round enjoyment of fine eating possible.

Here you have one more example of how electricity will simplify the housewife's tasks when the war is over.

Foreseeing these new uses, Philadelphia Electric Company already is hard at work on post-war plans to make sure this five-county area has all the electricity it needs, when the need arises.

Just one item in our preparation for the future is the Southwark generating station. As soon as materials are available we hope to proceed with its completion—at a cost totaling $30,000,000—so as to add 150,000 kilowatts to the now available supply of electricity. Later, we plan to install another generating unit at Southwark providing an additional 150,000 kilowatts and bringing the total cost of the station to $43,000,000. And in the next five years $10,000,000 more will be spent on new substations or extensions to present plants.

It is this continual looking ahead on the part of your neighbors who operate P.E. which assures you dependable, low-cost service in peace or in war.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

A COZY GIFT indeed is a 100% virgin wool Nashua blanket. Believe me, Nashuas are none too plentiful, but the canny buyer of the Snellenburg Blanket Dept. has a fine display of Nashuas in soft green, neutral blue, rich cedar rose, and luscious peach. Each measures 72x84 inches and has bindings of one-inch rayon satin. Suitable for single or double beds. Pretty enough to fold quilt-wise at the bottom of a bed. $12.95. (2nd fl.)

MEN and BOYS will whoop with glee at sight of one of the super-sharp hunting knives to be had in the Sporting Goods Dept. of the Snellenburg Store. Prewar type construction, with reinforced leather handles and well polished 6 inch forged blades that take a keen edge. Boy Scouts are using them, too. A grand be-man Christmas present and only $3.75. (3rd fl.)

PIPE SMOKERS are pipe collectors, so give him a new one this Christmas. The Snellenburg Smoke Corner actually has two styles (antique finish or a polished golden grain) of famous certified "Purex" pipes. The fine bowls are of imported aged heart briar root. Mouthpieces are fashioned of the best quality of polished rubber obtainable. Should the bowls burn out or crack within 90 days from purchase, the pipes can be returned, mentioning registration number, to be repaired free or replaced if necessary. Priced at $3.50 each. (1st fl.)

"MOSSALONE" DESIGNS are the last word in modern jewelry. The Snellenburg Jewelry Dept. is now showing a holiday collection of "Mossalone" creations. The pieces are 14 kt. gold. Mostly set with diamonds and genuine rubies—a combination now highly fashionable. There are pins and earrings to match and some sets have matching rings. It is possible to buy each piece separately. When next in town, feast your eyes upon a pin with fifteen rubies and a diamond, costing $229.95, earrings with seven rubies and a diamond at $149.95, a ring with five rubies and a diamond at $72.50. This is but one of several exquisite "Mossalone" sets. Sold separately. "Mossalone" pieces range in price from $35 to $254.95. (All pieces subject to 20% tax.) You'll like the Snellenburg Jewelry Department. (1st fl.)

SAYS SOLUTION LIES WITH THE PARENTS

Subject Discussed by Governor and Various Other Officials

NEED GOOD TRAINING

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7—"What is the solution to the juvenile delinquency problem?"

Various state officials including Gov. Edward Martin have advanced the idea that the answer to this much discussed question lies in the home.

"Behind the potentially delinquent or actually delinquent child are delinquent parents, delinquent employers, delinquent public officials—indeed a delinquent generation of adults," commented a newspaper editorially.

"The sins of the children are indeed the sins of their elders," the editorial added. "Until we realize that truth and act upon it with all our energies, juvenile delinquency will become an increasingly tragic monument to adult blindness and lethargy."

Deputy welfare secretary Emlyn Jones urged the proper physical, mental, social and spiritual training of youths in homes to combat the rising trend of juvenile delinquency.

"We have somewhat forgotten that the home, the church and the schools are the rear fountains of morals, manners and responsible citizenship," Jones stated.

"The character of an individual is not revealed best by public service or the righting of public evils; the real character of a man may be found only at home," he added.

"While all the agencies directed by the government are well meaning, I would rather have a boy or girl raised in the home than in the finest institution that can be provided by the state," declared Gov. Edward Martin.

He urged every family to "do its duty" by properly training children.

JAPAN CAST A SWORD UPON THE WATERS..... IT IS COMING BACK TO HER A THOUSAND-FOLD

When Japan laid waste to Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941—she cast a sword upon the waters... but today, three years later, the havoc she wrought is coming back to her a thousand-fold.

America aroused... united... determined to show that liberty and decency are to remain on the face of the earth.

SUN SHIP, on the DELAWARE RIVER IN CHESTER—is proud of its part in the war effort since Pearl Harbor. 190 all-welded tankers have been built and launched by SUN SHIP since December, 1941. These tankers are our Navy's floating pipeline—and our Naval Fleet is the greatest the world has ever known. It is estimated that in the Pacific we have over 350 fighting ships totalling 2,700,000 tons. This American Armada would be powerless without tankers to bring them—and feed them—fuel for the fight. Tankers give our Naval Forces greater reach... greater striking power... Tankers are the lifeline of a Navy on the move.

As our fleet and our Army plow closer and closer to Tokio... as our military supply lines stretch longer and longer in the Pacific... more tankers than ever will be needed. SUN SHIP will not fail the Navy and the Army. SUN SHIP tankers—in ever increasing numbers—will power the blows that will cut the heart out of Japan.

WOMEN AT WAR

By James E. Brown
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW DELHI, Dec. 7 — (INS) — American army nurses at the small base hospitals in the rear, such as the Station Hospital in New Delhi, have a monotonous, exacting job and share little of the so-called glamor of their sisters in the front lines.

This, however, is not a matter of concern to them because like most nurses they are averse both to publicity and to romanticizing of their profession. Some of them already have had battle-area experience, and others probably will have it before they leave the army. They simply go where they are ordered.

Two nurses now serving at the Station Hospital here, Lieut. Blanche Campbell, of 8243 South Emerald ave., Chicago, and Lieut. Marian Shirley of Minot, N. D., are fairly typical of the girls in the China-India-Burma theatre.

Both have been in India more than a year and they both had at least two years experience when they enlisted. And, possibly less typical, they both have had loved ones killed in this war.

Lieut. Campbell took her training at the Englewood Hospital, on the south side of Chicago, and graduated in 1940. She then went to the Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, where she remained until early in 1942 when she returned to Chicago and did institutional nursing. She was interested chiefly in obstetrics, a subject notably absent from U. S. Army nursing.

While training at Fort Sheridan, Ill., she met Lieut. John Harris of Indianapolis, who was in the coast artillery, and became engaged to him. He was killed in the landings on Sicily.

After completing her army training, Lieut. Campbell was transferred to Camp Stoneham, Calif., and in February, 1943, sailed for India.

Lieut. Marian Shirley arrived in Bombay in Jan., 1943, and was assigned to an Evacuation Hospital in Leda, Burma. This unit handled the casualties from Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese-American forces and also treated the injured and sick among the Leda road engineers.

After a year at this base, Lieut. Shirley and other nurses were moved up to Shingbwang, a camp in the Hukawng valley of northern Burma, in the heart of jungle country.

Lieut. Shirley and other American nurses in northern Burma have a phobia against lurid painting of the terrors of jungle life, feeling that this will unnecessarily alarm their parents and friends.

The truth is that there are tigers, elephants, and pythons in Burma, but they are rarely seen around camps. The girls were not in immediate danger from either animals or Japanese—their real enemies were boredom and monotony, unceasing monsoon rains, and mosquitoes. The monsoon rains have to be experienced to be believed.

Lieut. Shirley says, adding that once they had only one day of sunshine during an entire month.

Life in northern Burma cannot be called pleasant or enjoyable, and after that Lieut. Shirley thinks New Delhi is "paradise." There are shops, dances, and theatres, she points out, and all in all it's a pleasant change, although she does not regret the rougher phase of her nursing career.

"After all, that is what I expected when I joined the army," she says. "I thought I would enjoy it, and I really did. I wouldn't look forward to doing it again, but, at the same time, I wouldn't trade the experience for anything."

Lieut. Shirley has suffered two severe shocks since she came overseas. Her mother died in March, and her brother, Sergt. Allen Shirley, tail-gunner in a B-17, was killed over Germany in June. It is probable that she will return to the States when her rotation number comes up.

Both Lieuts. Shirley and Campbell play golf, and both are convinced from their experience with soldier patients that if there are enough normal outlets, almost everyone can take army life in his stride. They feel strongly that a soldier needs something beyond his military routine, and that often the individual can find this outside something without aid, but some soldiers need to be helped.

These nurses are serious young women embarrassed by praise, but who nevertheless must rate high in any list of those who deserve well of their country. There is no unit of the Allied team in CBI which is contributing more toward the common goal.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GLAZED APPLES ARE DELICIOUS; CAN BE DONE ON STOVE TOP

By Mary Jacoby Fleetham
(Home Economics Representative)

The baked apples served in restaurants and hotels today are rarely baked in the oven, for other commercial cooking methods have been found to hold the shape, color and flavor of whole apples better and take less time and heat.

For home cooking a method of top-stove cookery known as "glazing" may be used instead of baking. Directions for glazing are: Scrub apples well. Remove cores. Cut a slit in the skin all the way around the apple at right angles to the core to prevent the skin from bursting during cooking. Place apples in a saucepan. Make a mixture of spice and sugar using about a teaspoon of allspice or cinnamon to each half cup of sugar. Put the sugar and spice mixture in the holes left by removing the cores. Add a fourth cup of water for each apple in the pan. Cover the pan and cook on top of the stove over low heat. Turn apples once during cooking. Cook until apples are tender—usually from 7 to 15 minutes. The last minute before the apples are done, remove the cover. Take care not to overcook, for, once tender, apples cook to mush quickly.

For this method of cooking, or for baking in the oven, it is important to choose varieties of apples that hold their shape well.

MANCHURIAN CITIES BLASTED ON WAR'S 3RD ANNIVERSARY

Send B-29 Superfortresses Against Enemy Industrial Centers

LARGE TASK FORCE

Japanese Announce Planes Over Tokyo; This Unconfirmed

The U. S. 10th Bomber Command commemorated the third anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack against Pearl Harbor today by sending a large task force of B-29 Superfortresses over southern Manchuria in a daylight blast against enemy industrial centers in that occupied territory.

The first report of the attack was made by the Tokyo radio which reported the Yanks carried out a half-hour blast between 10 and 10:20 o'clock in the morning, Japanese time.

Shortly afterward U. S. headquarters in Washington confirmed the attack and said the sweep was carried out by "a large task force" of Superfortresses.

The Tokyo radio also reported that "three or four" Superfortresses flew over Tokyo itself and

Army is Going to Buy Thousands of Chickens

The Army (buying for all armed services) is 110,000 pounds short in its requirements of chicken for feeding fighters.

That chicken is a good food is well understood. To G. I. Joe, fresh from the front—chicken is many fold more important than its mere food value. Chicken means "Home"—Sunday dinners, free and easy talk around the table, the right to think and talk as you please. Chicken is a morale food for which there aren't any substitutes. When given to fighters back from the lines it has a way of easing tension and making them forget for a time, anyhow—the tough, dangerous jobs they're doing.

Active fighters, men in training—and particularly wounded men—are asking for "More chicken, please." No one will argue that they're not entitled to it. Everyone will agree that they must get it. But right now, there's a chicken shortage for feeding fighters. So—

At the request of the Army, the War Food Administration has issued an order that will "set aside" all chickens in some producing areas exclusively for the Army to buy. Chickens that normally went into civilian markets are going to be reserved 100 per cent for Army purchase. Initially, this order will apply to what is known as the Del-Mar-Va peninsula and a section of Virginia and West Virginia. These areas produce large number of broilers and fryers. While the initial order is limited to the areas named above, it is entirely probable that other areas will be included shortly. G. I. Joe is going to get the chicken he wants.

Purchase of practically all the chickens available in the areas named by the Army, is going to cut down on the supplies of chicken in food stores and restaurants from New York to Richmond. Some chickens from other areas and from cold storage stocks will be available. Similarly, there is no set aside on ducks, geese, squabs and guineas. Turkey is also somewhat more plentiful. But—there is going to be less chicken, especially fryers and broilers, for civilian in these areas so fighters can have a bigger share.

BRITISH SEIZE IMPORTANT TOWN OF MEZZANO

Rome—The British Eighth Army expanded its drive north of liberated Ravenna today seizing the important highway town of Mezzano and chasing the Germans out of the entire area east of the Lamone River. At the same time the long and bitter battle for the Nazi-held coming through stubborn German opposition, seized strategic Mount San Rinaldo and occupied the town of Brisighella.

In Brisighella, the Poles were only seven miles southwest of Faenza. The town was threatened from the south as the British overcame a series of German counter-thrusts to expand their bridgehead across the Lamone at that point.

AMERICANS BEAT DOWN NAZIS' DESPERATE COUNTER-BLOWS

Paris—With Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army intensifying the assault on the industrial city of Saarbrücken from points only five miles distant, the American Ninth and First Armies in the north beat down desperate German counter-blooms today aimed at delaying a Yank crossing of the Roer river onto the plain before Cologne.

Front reports said American tanks forced German panzers into retreat after a heavy five-hour battle near Binning.

The Germans, in last-minute efforts to stave off an onslaught which would enable the Ninth Army to send its armor streaming toward the Rhine, shrouded their movements with a considerable smokescreen. Gen. Patton's troops tightening their grip on the Saar region smashed into Wehrden, five miles west of Saarbrücken and were in control of two-third of Sarreguemines, to the southeast.

The Forrest Theatre fire occurred December 7th, 1926.

To the People of this Community

Here's straight talk by an industrial editor to his fellow war workers. It is worth your listening to and thinking about tonight after you get through reading the war news.

"It may seem a long way from a foxhole in the Pacific to a cottage in the suburbs, but they're not as far apart as you might think."

"To the boy who looks to his foxhole for protection against a deadly enemy, that foxhole is security."

"To us who stay at home and fight the battle as civilians, the cottage in the suburbs is the security we look forward to when the world is again at peace."

"When the noise of battle dies, when men and women across the world renew their peacetime pursuits, those of us who have invested in War Bonds can step immediately into the future we planned."

"So the foxhole and the cottage in the suburbs aren't so far apart, after all. Different as they seem, they have one common denominator—War Bonds. Extra bonds will move our boys out of the foxholes sooner."

NEW HOPE WOMAN ACHIEVED FAME AS COOKIE BAKER; NOW TURNS HER TALENTS TO CERAMICS; HUSBAND JOINS WIFE IN HER NEW INTEREST

NEW HOPE, Dec. 7—So popular did Mary Pippenger's specially modelled and hand-painted cookies prove last year at the holiday season that orders commenced rolling in this year in spite of the fact that she and her husband have since turned to ceramics.

Mrs. Pippenger's husband, sculptor Robert Pippenger, modelled the cookie dough into angels, religious figures, dancing and peasant girls, royal guardsmen, soldiers, musical instruments, hearts, Mother Goose characters, etc., and it was then that wife painted the models with a secret solution to prevent them from losing their shape as they baked. Once out of the oven, Mrs. Pippenger painted them in vegetable colors.

Neighbors commenced buying and Mrs. Pippenger's fame as a baker of special cookies spread. Last season the cookies were sold far and wide. The fair baker sent some to soldiers on Guadalcanal.

But since Christmas of 1943 the Pippengers have turned attention to ceramics, and so occupied has their time been with figures of women on horse-back, dogs, and other animals as novelties to decorate the home that they have had to forget the holiday cookies this season.

Mrs. Pippenger is a former resident of Chicago, Ill.; while friend bubbly bails from Indiana. They have resided here for 3 1/2 years. The sculptor was studying in Rome when war broke out and it was necessary that he return home.

Cheerful Workers Conduct An Evening Service

NEWPORTVILLE, Dec. 7—The Cheerful Workers of Newportville Community Church—Presbyterian conducted the evening service in the Church on Sunday.

Mrs. John Lewis announced the numbers. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Edith Reese, and Mrs. Fred Wimmersberger read the scripture.

Mrs. James Barclay gave a very interesting talk. Mrs. Lewis read the names of boys in service from the Sunday School, and the parents, wives or sisters responded to the boy's name. The offering was taken by Mrs. H. Backhouse, Mrs. George Enry, Mrs. Charles Everett and Mrs. Clifford Ingraham. Many hymns were sung throughout the service, favorites of the boys, W. Philip Benbow, pastor, dismissed the assemblage with the benediction.

There were two bouquets on the platform, one placed there by the Cheerful Workers, and one by Mrs. C. Everett in memory of Lt. William Kelly, a friend of her son's who was killed in action. These flowers were given to Mr. Childs and Winfield Hogarth, both of Newport Heights, who are ill. The offering was given to the Presbytery for the chaplains' fund for service men.

Surprise Joan Whyno On Her 13th Anniversary

A surprise birthday party was given for Joan Whyno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Whyno, McKinley street, Monday evening, in honor of her 13th anniversary.

Joan was completely surprised and the evening was enjoyed playing games. Refreshments were served. Joan received many gifts.

Those present: Shirley Mount, Doris Crosby, Linda Whyno, Betty Lynn, Peggy Muth, Dolores Neill, Harry Campbell, Jr., Walter McDonald, Phillip Houser, John Why no, Jr., David Whyno, Joseph Rice, Alfred Daniels, Joseph McCham, Joseph Liberator, Mrs. Frank Trudo and daughters Mildred and Katharine.

Timely Discovery Of A Fire Saves School Bldg.

FEASTERVILLE, Dec. 7—Timely discovery of a fire in a cloak room of the Lower Southampton school, of which Mrs. Zella Fromuth is the principal, on Monday, prevented what might have resulted in the destruction of the entire four-room, one-story structure.

One of the boys, waiting for the school bus after the pupils had been dismissed, went to the cloak room to get his coat, and discovered flames coming up through the floor of the cloak room.

The boy immediately notified Milton Crossdale, the janitor, who, with the assistance of neighbors, began pouring water on the floor, but they were unable to get to the fire, which is of unknown origin.

Unable to do this, they began tearing up the floor, and in the meanwhile calls were sent to the Trevoze Fire Company and the Trevoze Heights Fire Company.

GIRL SCOUTS TO HOLD BAZAAR

Firemen were called to the Rohm & Haas plant yesterday afternoon, but did not get into service. The blaze, inside one of the buildings, was controlled by the firm's fire department. It was reported that the fire was due to an oil burner.

Bridge Club Members Fete Mrs. Charles Smith

HULMEVILLE, Dec. 7—A surprise shower was arranged in honor of Mrs. Charles Smith, of Newportville, on Tuesday evening, by members of her bridge club and a few other friends. Mrs. Charles Bean was the hostess, the affair being held at the Bean residence.

Gifts for the fete were arranged in a doll coach entirely decorated in pink, this being placed by the fire-place.

The invitation list also included: Mrs. Louis Goll, Mrs. Frank Binder, Mrs. J. Madison Force, Sr., Mrs. J. Madison Force, Jr., Mrs. Harry Force, Mrs. William Perry, Miss Margaret Perry, Mrs. George Bilger, Mrs. Walter Haas, Hulmeville; Mrs. Norwood Lewis, Newportville; and Mrs. Clarence Oldstad, Bristol.

Two tables of bridge were formed and one of pinocle, with prizes being won by Mrs. J. M. Force, Jr., Mrs. Bilger and Miss Perry. A repast was served.

Two Sons Lost, Third To Be Returned To U. S.

POINT PLEASANT, Dec. 7—With one of their sons listed officially as dead and another presumed to be dead, Mr. and Mrs. Leidy K. Lewis, of near here, have received good news in the form of an announcement from the War Department that their only other son, Pfc. Paul Lewis, 19, who is serving with the Marines in the South Pacific, will be returned for domestic service with the next contingent to be sent home from that area.

Taking recognition of the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have only one son surviving the War Department has decreed that he shall return to this country for home service. Mrs. Lewis is unable to state when the young man, who took part in the battle on Peleliu, will return.

Mrs. Lewis a few days ago received a brief communication from her son, who suffered a sprained knee in the battle. The young man, who entered the service on November 17, 1943, made no mention of the fact that he will be sent home. He stated he was in good health, and that he had seen his first electric eel, which he described as being immense.

FIREMEN WILL MEET TONIGHT

There will be a meeting of Bristol Volunteer Fire Co. No. 6, tonight in Karp's Hall at eight o'clock. There will be nomination of officers, report of the building committee, and other important business. Refreshments will be served. All members are urged to attend and take a prospective member with them.

DON'T BE LATE!

The Courier reserves the right to reject copy for display advertising which is received later than two days previous to the day of publication. This rule is now effective and will be in force until after January 1st and may be extended.

All display advertising copy for insertion in The Bristol Courier must be at the Courier office not later than 12 o'clock noon, two days previous to day on which the advertising is to appear. We reserve the right to reject copy received after the designated time.

This rule is made necessary in order to give the mechanical department ample time in which to set the advertisement, and properly illustrate it. It is hoped that advertisers will cooperate and make reservations for space desired, and furnish their copy on time.

Copy will not be accepted after the expiration of the deadline announced above.

19 ARE SCHEDULED FOR INDUCTION IN THIS AREA TODAY

Group Will Take Oath At Philadelphia; Friends Gather for Farewell

NAMES ARE LISTED

Variety of Occupations Are Represented By The Men

Prohibit The Postponing of Inductions

The following is an excerpt from a telegram received today by the Local Selective Service Board at Bristol Post Office building:

"Fathers and non-fathers are dying hourly on the fields of battle. Literally millions of fathers now in service will not be with their families over Christmas. Local boards are prohibited from postponing inductions because of holiday seasons. Calls must be met as scheduled."

As 19 young men gathered at Bristol post office plaza this morning enroute to Philadelphia to enter the armed forces, they were given gifts by members of the "36 for Victory."

The Rev. Lehman Strauss, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, offered prayer; and the entire program was amplified by Profy & Sons sound wagon.

Representatives of the Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 332, American Legion, were present to bid the men God-speed.

The following from this area are scheduled for induction in Philadelphia today, they boarding a train here shortly after eight o'clock.

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

LUBBOCK ARMY AIR FIELD

Lubbock, Texas, Dec. 7—Arriving here with Class 44-K Aviation Cadet Kenneth E. Herrmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Herrmann, 718 Wood street, Bristol, began the final period of pilot training at this advanced two-engine school of the Army Air Forces Training Command. After a few more weeks of intensive training on the ground and in the air he will receive the coveted silver wings of a bomber pilot and become a flying officer in the Army Air Forces.

LAAF is located on the flat plains of West Texas. It was early chosen as an ideal location for the training of future pilots of the Fortresses, Mitchell Maulders and other multi-motored AAF aircraft. Hundreds of combat bomber pilots who graduated from this field have distinguished themselves in all theaters of war. More than a dozen LAAF graduates were decorated for the "suicide" raid on Wake Island December 23, 1942, and almost a score of LAAF pilots took part in the equally daring raid on the Ploesti oil fields of Rumania. The field, second oldest two-engine school in the Central Flying Training Command, is under the command of Col. Howell M. Estes, Jr., West Point graduate and crack polo player, who transferred from the Cavalry to the Air Forces and has held important Command positions in the Training Command during the past several years.

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service
HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin's expectation of a "short and businesslike" session of the General Assembly in 1945 may be realized but past records show legislators usually have tossed aside all good intentions after the session was underway. . . . In 1941, lawmakers were not only at odds among themselves but with former Gov. Arthur H. James and consequently were in session for 191 days, longest meeting in 99 years. . . . In 1943, Governor Martin put the Assembly on a war footing but final adjournment came only after a 124-day session.

Since the adoption in 1873 of the Constitution now guiding the Commonwealth, there have been 37 regular legislative sessions and 3 extraordinary meetings. . . . The longest regular session, of course, was in 1941 while the shortest was in 1875. . . . The longest extraordinary session was recorded in 1883 when lawmakers sat for 183 days to apportion Pennsylvania into Senatorial and Representative districts. . . . Shortest special session was held in 1936 when the Assembly met for five days and approved a program of unemployment compensation.

Since the General Assembly began functioning in 1791, there have been 23 special sessions of the General Assembly and one extraordinary meeting of the Senate. . . . The first was held in 1791 when Governor Thomas Mifflin convened the lawmakers at Philadelphia to consider his recommendations for appropriating funds to pay an army to repel French and Indians on the western frontier of the state and to plan internal improvements. . . . The last session was called by Governor Martin to revise the Commonwealth's soldier voting act. . . . The only time the Senate was convened separately from the House was in 1891 when Gov. Robert E. Pattison asked the Senators to investigate the conduct of the State Treasurer, Auditor General and several Philadelphia magistrates. . . . The last major House investigation was held in 1938 when a Democratic-controlled committee looked into charges of graft involving the Earle Administration and subsequently issued a clean bill of health.

The Martin Administration is preparing a strong offensive against a proposal in the U. S. Senate to favor southwestern industry after the war at the expense of northern manufacturing states. . . . Such a move would hit Pennsylvania hard because it is one of the leading industrial states in the union. . . . The jobs of two-and-a-half million workers would be jeopardized, according to some sources, if the McCarran proposal is adopted. . . . Attorney General James H. Duff is conducting a quiet survey of the situation and has promised the Governor a detailed report soon.

RECIPES

Ground Pork with Chili and Beans

1/2 lb. lean pork, ground
2 green peppers, sliced thin
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon fat
1 1/2 tablespoons chili powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups (or 1 can) cooked kidney beans

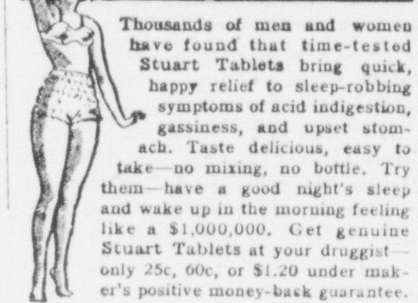

Melt fat in a heavy frying pan, fry garlic until golden brown, then add the pork and stir until evenly browned. Stir in the chili powder, then the peppers, salt and kidney beans. Add the liquid in which the beans were cooked. Cover and simmer over low heat for one hour. Stir occasionally, adding a little more liquid if necessary. Serves 2 to 3.

Note: Any ground left-over meat may be used in this recipe instead of the fresh pork.

Middle American Pot Roast

2 lb. piece of beef, lean
2 tablespoons fat
1 clove garlic, minced
1 onion, sliced
1 green pepper, sliced
3 large tomatoes, diced
1 can tomato sauce (1 cup)

Thousands of men and women have found that time-tested Stuart Tablets bring quick, happy relief to sleep-robbing symptoms of acid indigestion, gasiness, and upset stomach. Taste delicious, easy to take—no mixing, no bottle. Try them—have a good night's sleep and wake up in the morning feeling like a $1,000,000. Get genuine Stuart Tablets at your druggist—only 25c, 60c, or $1.20 under maker's positive money-back guarantee.

2 teaspoons chili powder
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon salt
Cayenne or black pepper.
Brown meat on all sides in the hot fat. Transfer to a large saucepan with a tight fitting cover. Add the onion, garlic, green pepper and tomatoes. Mix the chili powder, ginger, salt and pepper together and stir into the tomato sauce. Pour the sauce over the meat. Cover and allow to simmer over low heat for about 3 hours. Serves 4 to 6.

Avocado Ice Cream

1/2 pkg. Junket ice cream mix
1/2 pint light cream
1 ripe avocado
1 tablespoon lime juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lime rind.

Press avocado pulp through a fine sieve, and the lime juice and rind and whip until smooth and creamy. Put the cream in a bowl, add the ice cream mix and beat until thickened (it will not get stiff), then stir the avocado mixture in thoroughly. Pour into a shallow tray and freeze quickly with the cold control set at the lowest point. When the ice cream is frozen, set the control back to normal, and allow to "ripen" for several hours. Serves four.

SUGAR SAVERS FOR HOLIDAYS

Holiday cookies will be as much in demand as before because candy is scarce this winter. Delicious molasses bars are an old-fashioned cookie that will take care of the sweet tooth but not put a dent into the sugar supply.

A bar type of cookie will save time in baking because all the batter may be poured into an enameled pan and baked. After the cookie is baked, it may be cut and left in the pan until ready for use. This will keep the cookie moist and flavorful.

Molasses Raisin-Nut Bars

1/3 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup baking molasses
2 cups sifted flour

Pennsylvanians Are Busy In War Effort

"With the war now at its climax, every possible effort to man our war plants is being made," said State Manpower Director Floran J. Boland. "We cannot afford to let a single machine producing war goods sit idle and impair our boys at the fighting fronts."

More than 1,000,000 Pennsylvanians, during the last three years, enrolled in one or more branches of civilian defense to help defend the State, salvage materials and spur home front war work.

The State Defense Council, co-operating with the Army, staged 23 blackout and air raid drills in Pennsylvania. The last blackout was held April 13.

"We consider the blackout drills and air raid tests a success because they got into the minds of the people that they were not play but absolutely necessary and vital to the defense of the nation and the state," a Council spokesman said.

On the home front, where war workers' pockets bulged with cash, the Office of Price Administration took steps to prevent inflation and assure all persons an equal share of necessary goods through a complicated rationing program.

In January, 1942, Congress passed the Emergency Price Control Act which granted statutory authority to OPA to stabilize prices and residential rents.

OPA price regulations cover nearly everything the American family buys, eats, wears and uses. They cover more than 8,000,000 different commodities and services to commodities at all levels from producers to consumers.

Sergeant Oscar Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Richards, of Weisel, who was injured in the invasion of Sicily, had been offered a furlough to come home.

He was injured in one leg, but refused the furlough and wanted to get back in action again as soon as he could.

Later during the Normandy invasion he received shrapnel wounds which caused the loss of both legs. His parents were not informed how badly he was hurt and his mother and sister, Mrs. James Sabo, Applebachville, recently visited him at an Army hospital near Philadelphia.

His mother is employed at a war plant in Philadelphia, and a sister works at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. His father also is employed in a war plant.

Sergeant Richards had been employed at the U. S. Gange plant, Sellersville, before his induction.

WOMEN AT WAR

By Rita Home

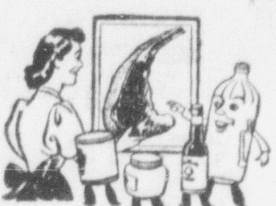

(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent) WITH THE FIRST ARMY, France, Dec. 7—(INS)—The Ack-Ack boys nicknamed her "Dusty" when she landed with their LCI at San Tropez.

Guillemette d'Astier de la Vigerie was the real name of their pretty passenger, but it was just too much of a mouthful for an American anti-aircraft crew, who thought d'Astier sounded like Dusty anyway.

So when the golden-haired daughter of the French airforce general returned to liberated France she came back wearing a French army uniform, singing snatches of American tunes and

Using Utility Meats

Wartime meats this winter, food economists predict, will be the lean and less luxurious cuts, with little fat to tenderize. Meat there will be plenty of. But its been rationed, is the long-slow-cooking kind. That means braises, stews, and pot roasts will be stylish. And flavorful accompaniments, that give these common cuts more taste appeal, will be called for insistently and often.

Learn to cook with mustard, vinegar, 57 sauce, Worcestershire sauce, and condensed soups. You'll find these flavor aids lend zest and have a tenderizing touch. As, for instance, here:

Steak and Kidney Pie

Remove skin and hard white substances from—
1½ lbs. rump steak
1½ lbs. lamb or veal kidneys.
Cut meat into small squares.
Cover with cold water, and bring to a boil.

Add—
2 medium onions, chopped
2½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper.
Continue cooking until meat is tender. Remove from heat and skim top, then return to heat.

Blend together—
½ cup flour
½ cup 57 sauce
½ cup water.
Add to meat mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Pour into casserole, and cover with—
Biscuit dough rolled to ¼ inch and cut into small biscuits.
Bake in a hot oven (400°F) for 20 minutes or until biscuit dough is baked. Serves 6.

Pigs' Knuckles and Sauerkraut
Scrape and wipe with damp cloth—
3 pigs' knuckles.
Cover with—
1½ lbs. bulk sauerkraut.

Bake in a covered pan in a moderate oven (350°F) for 2½ hours or until pigs' knuckles are tender.

Soak—
¼ teaspoon evaporated horse-radish
10 minutes in—
2 teaspoons cold water.
Add—
1½ tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
¾ tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ cup water.

Heat and serve as sauce over pigs' knuckles. Serves 6.

Barbecued Link Sausage

Place—
1 dozen (1½ lbs.) link sausages in a skillet containing about—
½ inch water.

Cover and cook, turning occasionally, until water is evaporated, fry until brown.

Remove sausages from skillet.
Brown—
¼ cup finely chopped onion in—
2 tablespoons of the sausage fat.

Add—
2 tablespoons brown cider vinegar
2 tablespoons pure cider vinegar
2 tablespoons pure cider vinegar, firmly packed
½ cup tomato ketchup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon prepared brown mustard
½ cup water
½ cup chopped celery.

Cook over moderate heat for 15 minutes. Add sausages, and continue cooking until sausages are thoroughly heated. Serves 6.

Noodle-Hamburger Casserole

Cook, then drain—
½ pound egg noodles.
Brown—
1 lb. hamburger

Add—
2 tablespoons fat.
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper.

1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper.
Add—
1 11-oz. can condensed cream of tomato soup, undiluted
Heat to bubbling. Combine sauce with noodles and place in casserole.
Top with—
¼ cup buttered dry bread crumbs.
Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) for 15 minutes. Serves 6.

answering to a new name for the rest of the French campaign.

Dusty was just at the glorious age of 21 when war and the Germans came to France. Now she is 26. Nearly all the boys she knew have been killed. Like so many others in France the family has its story of separations, underground resistance and tragic death. Until she escaped into Spain one dark night, the de la Vigerie's "youngster" had her own taste of concentration camp life. Then followed escape to Africa, enlistment with de Gaulle's forces and return to France following the Riviera landings.

Dusty is a product of war time France. Her future and her problems are typical of those of other French girls whose young lives were suspended in the hiatus of war. Yet in other ways one could hardly group as typical any member of the famous military family whose name is traditional with French history.

Dusty's father is General Francois d'Astier de la Vigerie, who escaped France to direct the French air forces from England. One uncle, Major Henri d'Astier de la Vigerie, is famous throughout the French army as the leader of the daring Commandos de France. The third brother, Emmanuel, was Minister of the Interior in Algiers.

The four d'Astier de la Vigerie children followed in the proud line of their family traditions.

Dusty's eldest sister, Marie, gave a husband to the PFI. He led the resistance movement in Lyon, France's third largest city, during German occupation. Now he is an PFI chief behind the German lines in Alsace, last unhappy portion of unliberated France.

The resistance activities of a second sister, Bertrance, ended early in a Vichy prison. She escaped to Switzerland in 1941 and as far as the family knows is still there. A third sister chose to serve the church as a nun.

Dusty's only brother, Jean-Annet, volunteered for the French air force in 1939 to be shot down by German anti-aircraft later over Paris.

For Dusty's own story let's start with Dusty now, at a little French village a few miles behind the Sixth Army Group lines in the foggy Vosges mountains. She lives and works in a quaint resort hotel where the French public relations headquarters is established just across the cobbled street from a famous hot baths. A battered white sign informs you that the Hotel des Bains is now "requisitioned" by the French army. Right next door is the Hotel des Moderns—whose lack of lights, heat and hot water deny the name—is the American public relations office.

Dusty gravitates between the two doing secretarial and liaison jobs for censors, correspondents and P. O. Officials. You'd spot her at once. Flashing white smile, merry eyes over broad, almost Slav-like cheek bones. A trifle husky and looking like a candidate for the bobby socks brigade with a mane of blonde hair and frequently denied snatches of American hit tunes.

Sometimes, in her job, she whips up to the "front." This isn't hard to do for the Belfort Gap lines are just a few miles away. Sometimes the front comes right down into the PRO backyard in the form of a couple of strapping Messerschmitts. Most of the Americans thought Dusty was just a good-natured, happy-go-lucky kid who would pitch into any job with boundless energy.

One day we drove up to the sleepy hamlet of Domremy when a French Army commander, General de Golsard de Monsabert, visited the birthplace of Jeanne d'Arc and the spiritual home of de Gaulle's Lorraine Cross.

In his honor an excited black-froked crew conducted a special mass in the blue and white chapel of Jeanne's memorial basilica. Dapper little Monsabert's Kris Kringle face lighted up on spying Dusty. Before departing he singled her out for a special smile and handshake.

"Oh well, you see, he knows my father. He's in the Army, too."

She passed the incident off with a modest explanation.

A few days later a dynamic black-haired French officer made a special visit to our camp to see Dusty. Our heavy of news-minded correspondents didn't miss this arrival of the daring Major de Commandos. His exploits in leading sabotage troops ahead of the Allied forces were one of the stories of the Southern France landings.

That was when most of us discovered that this tall aristocrat was Dusty's uncle and when we finally untangled Dusty's last name to find out that her father was a famed French general.

Word came that General d'Astier de la Vigerie would be in Paris for a few days. And Dusty got a chance to drive up with one of the PRO couriers to meet him. "I haven't seen him in two and a half years," she announced gleefully.

For French bobby sock girl came back to the rain-drenched village and our student days existence a few days later. Her reunion had not been quite complete, for gas restrictions and work had prevented even a French general and his daughter from driving a couple hundred extra miles to see his wife.

Dusty's experience was little different from that of her two fellow workers who had also landed with German occupation. Now he is an PFI chief behind the German lines in Alsace, last unhappy portion of unliberated France.

The resistance activities of a second sister, Bertrance, ended early in a Vichy prison. She escaped to Switzerland in 1941 and as far as the family knows is still there. A third sister chose to serve the church as a nun.

Dusty's only brother, Jean-Annet, volunteered for the French air force in 1939 to be shot down by German anti-aircraft later over Paris.

For Dusty's own story let's start at the idea. She was plumped down on the homely quilt of the huge French bed that occupied most of my tiny room. Upstairs, someone was rounding up an after-dinner singing session. But for a moment Dusty was serious.

"No, even though we were separated, we weren't really sad because it was for de Gaulle."

She spoke with that slight hesitation of seeking out words in a none too familiar language.

"Boy friend? Nearly everyone I knew has been killed." Then she related the story of her own life until the time that she and her mother were interned in a concentration camp six months before the Riviera landings.

Dusty was brought up in the life of an aristocratic French family. Except for her nineteenth year, when she attended college in Dublin, her father was with the army in Ireland. Dusty received a French convent education. General d'Astier de la Vigerie went to North Africa following the French defeat in 1940. Ousted from his airpost he returned to a quiet life at the family chateau near Vichy in unoccupied France. Allied landings in North Africa precipitated the General's flight to England, where he became chief of French airforces there.

With the rest of the family separated by their resistance activities "Guimie," the youngest, was the only one left at home with her mother. They had to live quietly for the family was on the Vichy German black list. At the beginning of 1943 Guimie, as her family called her, dared to undertake a French resistance job "just as a kind of liaison."

The Vichy police confided to mother and daughter that they weren't pleased to find them at home when they came to make the arrest. In March, 1944, they were taken to Camp de Brens, near Tonoul and herded into a wooden barracks with 150 women. One month later Madame d'Astier de la Vigerie was permitted to return to her home.

"It really was not unpleasant. They were afraid to treat me badly because of my father," Dusty explained.

On the 13th of June, Dusty escaped from the camp at 2 o'clock in the morning. A waiting car drove her to a farm near the Spanish border. The next night, she started out by mountain paths into Spain, where she eventually landed in Madrid. Shortly after she was aboard a boat for Casablanca.

In Algiers she joined the de Gaulle forces and went to work for Commandante Barbone directing the French public relations office which was to handle transmissions for French war correspondents on the Southern France invasion.

She was transferred to Naples. One month later on Sept. 4, she arrived back in France aboard an LCI with an American Anti-Aircraft outfit.

What of the future? How can anyone tell, least of all those girls whom the war caught before they had any opportunity to establish their own homes? Like the teenage youths who grew up before their time fighting in the Maquis, they are one of France's problems. To them right now the important thing—France's liberation—has been accomplished. But it is not the time yet for planning personal futures.

Stockton Society Has A Busy Holiday Season

MORRISVILLE, Dec. 7.—Mrs. C. Frederick Waits served as chairman of the Christmas bazaar which the Alice G. Stockton Society of the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation conducted this week.

Here assistants included: Mrs. Leland Godwin, Mrs. Charles Geanette, Mrs. Mercer Pauck, Mrs. Joseph Clark, Mrs. Coleman Morgan, Mrs. John Bullock, Mrs. Earl Barber and Mrs. Walter Hazard.

On Monday the society will honor the Morrisville high school band with a banquet in the church, beginning at six o'clock. Mrs. Frank Lorimer is chairman of arrangements, and will be assisted by the society.

The December meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Coleman Morgan, December 13th.

Officers serving for the year are: Mrs. Harold Kendall, president; Mrs. Doris Custer, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Geanette, secretary, and Mrs. Coleman F. Morgan, treasurer.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Howard L. Zepp
Winder Village

Lord, God of hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget.

We wonder today if we shall ever forget Pearl Harbor and that day of infamy. We find ourselves nursing bitterness and fashioning the cold, cruel steel of hatred. Therefore we commend our nation to the guidance of Thy wisdom, to the keeping of Thy love. We believe that Thou wilt truly bless us when we re-kindle our hatred, not of people, but of ideas and policies of injustice and oppression. Save us today from all prejudice, fear or frenzy. Fill our hearts with Thy grace and truth that we may have no hatred or bitterness toward anyone. Make us realize that deep-rooted prejudice adds to the weight of the world's sin. We pray that understanding and good will may soon come to our world. Thou hast called us to a place of trust and responsibility throughout the world. Give us the courage which our times demand. Let our will be good will, our ways the ways of peace. Keep us diligent in friendliness, eager in creative work. Amen.

RECIPES

Angel Cake

8 egg whites
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
1 cup pastry flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla

Beat egg whites slightly. Add cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Add the sifted sugar gradually, beating constantly. Fold in the flour and salt which have been sifted together 4 times. Add vanilla. Pour into a tube pan and bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Turn upside down on a cake cooler and let stand until the cake drops out.

Popovers

1 cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs

1 tbsp. melted shortening
Mix and sift flour and salt. Add milk gradually. Add beaten egg and shortening. Beat batter five minutes with a Dover egg beater. Pour batter into greased hot iron popover pans or hot greased earthen cups. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Reduce heat to a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) and bake 15 minutes. Do not open oven door for the first 15 minutes of baking. This recipe makes 8 to 10 popovers.

Scalloped Cabbage

3 cups cooked shredded cabbage
2 cups medium white sauce

BASEBALL'S BEST - - - By Jack Sords

British Eighth Army stepped up their attack against Nazi positions for gains along most of the front. The Russians blasted through southwestern Hungary along a 150-mile front to clear the entire southern shore of Lake Balaton of Germans and jab spearheads across the muddy Hungarian plains to lit-tle more than 40 miles from the Austrian border.

Moscow sources revealed that de-spite extremely bad weather the Russians had ploughed through southwestern Hungary for 95 miles in seven days at a speed greater than the German blitz through Poland and France in the early days of the war.

PA. HENS MAINTAIN FINE PRODUCTIONS

Monthly Records Good; 172,000,000 Eggs During October

INCREASE IN Y E A R

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7 — Pennsylvania hens were maintaining good monthly production records for 1944 with 172,000,000 during October, a 16,000,000 increase over the same month in 1943.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said individual output was up one egg and attributed much of the increase to unseasonably mild weather. Pullet and hen population on the State's farms was 380,000 greater than last year.

Commercial poultrymen complained they received 11 per cent less for eggs during October and paid two per cent more per 100 pounds for feed compared with 1943. A 100-pound bag of meal cost the equivalent of 85 eggs, they claimed.

The decline in milk production halted momentarily in October following the revival of pastures by late September rains, according to the Department of Agriculture.

A November 1 survey indicated milk production kept pace with the previous month for the first time since January, 1943. The percentage of cows milked was one point above that a year ago.

Late grain reports revealed considerable corn to be husked with the total crop estimated at 53,124,000 bushels, an eight per cent gain over last year.

The winter wheat and oats crop,

59 per cent larger this year, was reported doing well. Rye jumped seven per cent over last year's harvest, while barley dropped 15 per cent and hay seven per cent.

Nutritious meals that are easily and quickly prepared, yet look and taste good, are important these days when homemakers are busy with community and home activities.

Much time can be saved by planning ahead. This may not mean writing down the week's menus at one time, but homemakers ought to keep in mind such foods as the main dish and vegetables. Weekly shopping also is a time-saver.

Homemakers who have well-stocked storage cupboards may like to put canned and other stored foods that will be required for the week on a small table. This also insures the use of needed foods. By taking a basket or tray to the cellar all the foods needed for the day can be carried in one trip.

Oven meals save much time and do not need as careful watching as those cooked on top of the stove. Select a main dish, one or two vegetables and a dessert. Meat loaves, roasts, or baked ham; baked or scalloped potatoes; another vegetable cooked in a covered dish with a small amount of water; baked apples, brown Betty puddings, upside-down cake, gingerbread, fruit pies, nut bread, are good foods for oven meals. If a hot dessert is not desired, it may be served at another meal. Broiler meals, using canned or leftover vegetables, are popular as quick meals.

Cooking potatoes with skins on

and vegetables whole or in large pieces saves time in preparation. Cooking vegetables in a covered pan in a small amount of water, starting with water boiling, shortens the cooking time.

When making muffins, measure out twice the amount of dry ingredients at one time. Add milk, fat and egg to half the dry ingredients. The rest may be put in a covered dish and stored for several days in the refrigerator. This procedure may be followed in making baking powder biscuits or pie crust. In this case the shortening can be cut into the dry ingredients before storing.

Roast Turkey

Singe, dress, wash and wipe the turkey with a damp cloth. Slip back the skin from the neck and cut off neck close to body. The skin will turn back and keep in the stuffing. Cut off the tips of wings and cook neck, wings, gizzard, and liver in water to cover, to use for the gravy. Fill the turkey with a chosen stuffing. Tie in shape with wings and legs close to the body. Spread with melted shortening and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Put in a roasting pan in a quick oven (450 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Add 1 cup water. Reduce heat to moderate oven (350 degrees) and cook

Celery and Olive Stuffing

3 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped olives
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/8 tsp. paprika
Few drops onion juice
3 tbsp. shortening
Mix bread crumbs, celery, olives, salt, pepper, paprika and onion juice. Moisten with shortening, melted in hot water. Mix thoroughly.

Peanut Stuffing

3 cups soft bread crumbs
3/4 cup chopped peanuts
1/2 tsp. onion juice
1 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
2 tbsp. shortening
1/2 cup stock or water
Mix bread crumbs and peanuts. Add onion juice, salt, parsley and pepper. Moisten with shortening, melted in hot water. Mix thoroughly.

Currant Spice Cake

3/4 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
4 eggs
3 cups flour
3 tsp. baking powder

1 tsp. salt
3/4 cup milk
2 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. clove
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
3/4 cup currants

Cream shortening, sugar and egg yolks together. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt, and spices, and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Add vanilla and currants. Bake in a greased loaf or round pan in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 60 to 80 minutes. Cover with boiled frosting.

Boiled Frosting

2 cups sugar

A safe deposit box for food

In the years ahead, fresh vegetables, meats, fruits, all can be bought when plentiful and kept safely until used.

Electrically-operated food freezing units at your favorite grocery store or nearby food-locker plant will combine with home freezing units to make this year-round enjoyment of fine eating possible.

Here you have one more example of how electricity will simplify the housewife's tasks when the war is over.

Foreseeing these new uses, Philadelphia Electric Company already is hard at work on post-war plans to make sure this five-county area has all the electricity it needs, when the need arises.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

A COZY GIFT indeed is a 100% virgin wool Nashua blanket. Believe me, Nashuas are none too plentiful, but the canny buyer of the Snellenburg Blanket Dept. has a fine display of Nashuas in soft green, neutral blue, rich cedar rose, and luscious peach. Each measures 72x84 inches and has bindings of one-inch rayon satin. Suitable for single or double beds. Pretty enough to fold quilt-wise at the bottom of a bed. $12.95. (2nd fl.)

MEN and BOYS will whoop with glee at sight of one of the super-sharp hunting knives to be had in the Sporting Goods Dept. of the Snellenburg Store. Prowler type construction, with reinforced leather handles, and well polished 6 inch forged blades that take a keen edge. Boy Scouts are using them, too. A grand he-man Christmas present and only $3.75. (3rd fl.)

PIPE SMOKERS are pipe collectors, so give him a new one this Christmas. The Snellenburg Smoke Corner actually has two styles (antique finish or a polished golden grain) of famous certified "Purex" pipes. The bowls are of imported aged heart briar root. Mouthpieces are fashioned of the best quality of polished rubber obtainable. Should the bowls burn out or crack within 90 days from purchase, the pipes can be returned, mentioning registration number, to be repaired free or replaced if necessary. Priced at $3.50 each. (1st fl.)

"MOSSALONE" DESIGNS are the last word in modern jewelry. The Snellenburg Better Jewelry Dept. is now showing a holiday collection of "Mossalone" creations. The pieces are 14 kt. gold. Mostly set with diamonds and genuine rubies—a combination now highly fashionable. There are pins and earrings to match and some sets have matching rings. It is possible to buy each piece separately. When next in town, feast your eyes upon a pin with fifteen rubies and a diamond, costing $229.95, earrings with seven rubies and a diamond at $149.95, a ring with five rubies and a diamond at $72.50. This is but one of several exquisite "Mossalone" sets. Sold separately. "Mossalone" pieces range in price from $35 to $254.95. (All pieces subject to 20% tax.) You'll like the Snellenburg Jewelry Department. (1st fl.)

SAYS SOLUTION LIES WITH THE PARENTS

Subject Discussed by Governor and Various Other Officials

NEED GOOD TRAINING

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—"What is the solution to the juvenile delinquency problem?"

Various state officials including Gov. Edward Martin have advanced the idea that the answer to this much discussed question lies in the home.

"Behind the potentially delinquent or actually delinquent child are delinquent parents, delinquent employers, delinquent public officials—indeed a delinquent generation of adults," commented a newspaper editorially.

"The sins of the children are indeed the sins of their elders," the editorial added. "Until we realize that truth and act upon it with all our energies, juvenile delinquency will become an increasingly tragic monument to adult blindness and lethargy."

Deputy welfare secretary Emyln Jones urged the proper physical, mental, social and spiritual training of youths in homes to combat the rising trend of juvenile delinquency.

"We have somewhat forgotten that the home, the church and the schools are the real fountains of morals, manners and responsible citizenship," Jones stated.

"The character of an individual is not revealed best by public service or the righting of public evils; the real character of a man may be found only at home," he added.

"While all the agencies directed by the government are well meaning, I would rather have a boy or girl raised in the home than in the finest institution that can be provided by the state," declared Gov. Edward Martin.

He urged every family to "do its duty" by properly training children.

JAPAN CAST A SWORD UPON THE WATERS..... IT IS COMING BACK TO HER A THOUSAND-FOLD

When Japan laid waste to Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941—she cast a sword upon the waters... but today, three years later, the havoc she wrought is coming back to her a thousand-fold.

America aroused... united... determined to show that liberty and decency are to remain on the face of the earth.

SUN SHIP, on the DELAWARE RIVER IN CHESTER—is proud of its part in the war effort since Pearl Harbor. 190 all-welded tankers have been built and launched by SUN SHIP since December, 1941. These tankers are our Navy's floating pipeline—and our Naval Fleet is the greatest the world has ever known. It is estimated that in the Pacific we have over 350 fighting ships totalling 2,700,000 tons. This American Armada would be powerless without tankers to bring them—and feed them—fuel for the fight. Tankers give our Naval Forces greater reach... greater striking power... Tankers are the lifeline of a Navy on the move.

As our fleet and our Army plow closer and closer to Tokio... as our military supply lines stretch longer and longer in the Pacific... more tankers than ever will be needed. SUN SHIP will not fail the Navy and the Army. SUN SHIP tankers—in ever increasing numbers—will power the blows that will cut the heart out of Japan.

WOMEN AT WAR

By James F. Brown
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
NEW DELHI, Dec. 7 — (INS) — American army nurses at the small base hospitals in the rear, such as the Station Hospital in New Delhi, have a monotonous, exacting job and share little of the so-called glamor of their sisters in the front lines.

This, however, is not a matter of concern to them because like most nurses they are averse both to publicity and to romanticizing of their profession. Some of them already have had battle-area experience, and others probably will have it before they leave the army. They simply go where they are ordered.

Two nurses now serving at the Station Hospital here, Lieut. Blanche Campbell, of 8243 South Emerald ave., Chicago, and Lieut. Marian Shirley of Minot, N. D., are fairly typical of the girls in the China-India-Burma theatre.

Both have been in India more than a year and they both had at least two years experience when they enlisted. And, possibly less typical, they both have had loved ones killed in this war.

Lieut. Campbell took her training at the Englewood Hospital, on the south side of Chicago, and graduated in 1940. She then went to the Barnes Hospital in St. Louis where she remained until early in 1942 when she returned to Chicago and did institutional nursing. She was interested chiefly in obstetrics, a subject notably absent from U. S. Army nursing.

While training at Fort Sheridan, Ill., she met Lieut. John Harris of Indianapolis who was in the coast artillery, and became engaged to him. He was killed in the landings on Sicily.

After completing her army training, Lieut. Campbell was transferred to Camp Stoneham, Calif., and in February, 1943, sailed for India.

Lieut. Marian Shirley arrived in Bombay in Jan., 1943, and was assigned to an Evacuation Hospital in Lado, Burma. This unit handled the casualties from Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese-American forces and also treated the injured and sick among the Lado road engineers.

After a year at this base, Lieut. Shirley and other nurses were moved up to Shingbwyang, a camp in the Hukawng valley of northern Burma, in the heart of jungle country.

Lieut. Shirley and other American nurses in northern Burma have a phobia against lurid painting of the terrors of jungle life, feeling that this will unnecessarily alarm their parents and friends. The truth is that there are tigers, elephants, and pythons in Burma, but they are rarely seen around camps. The girls were not in immediate danger from real animals or Japanese—their real enemies were boredom and monotony, unceasing monsoon rains, and mosquitoes. The monsoon rains have to be experienced to be believed, Lieut. Shirley says, adding that once they had only one day of sunshine during an entire month.

Life in northern Burma cannot be called pleasant or enjoyable, and after that Lieut. Shirley thinks New Delhi is "paradise." There are shops, dances, and theatres, she points out, and all in all it's a pleasant change, although she does not regret the rougher phase of her nursing career.

"After all, that is what I expected when I joined the army," she says. "I thought I would enjoy it, and I really did. I wouldn't look forward to doing it again, but, at the same time, I wouldn't trade the experience for anything."

Lieut. Shirley has suffered two severe shocks since she came overseas, her mother died in March, and her brother, Sergt. Allen Shirley, tail-gunner in a B-17, was killed over Germany in June. It is probable that she will return to the States when her rotation number comes up.

Both Lieuts. Shirley and Campbell play golf, and both are convinced from their experience with soldier patients that if there are enough normal outlets, almost everyone can take army life in his stride. They feel strongly that a soldier needs something beyond his military routine, and that often the individual can find this outside something without aid, but some soldiers need to be helped.

These nurses are serious young women embarrassed by praise, but who nevertheless must rate high in any list of those who deserve well of their country. There is no unit of the Allied team in CBI which is contributing more toward the common goal.

To buy, to sell, or to exchange—the classified column of the Courier will bring the desired results.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys can filter 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Don's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Don's Pills.

GLAZED APPLES ARE DELICIOUS; CAN BE DONE ON STOVE TOP

By Mary Jacoby Fleetham
(Home Economics Representative)
The baked apples served in restaurants and hotels today are rarely baked in the oven, for other commercial cooking methods have been found to hold the shape, color and flavor of whole apples better and take less time and heat.

For home cooking a method of top-stove cookery known as "glazing" may be used instead of baking. Directions for glazing are: Scrub apples well. Remove cores. Cut a slit in the skin all the way around the apple at right angles to the core to prevent the skin from bursting during cooking. Place apples in a saucepan. Make a mixture of spice and sugar using about a teaspoon of allspice or cinnamon to each half cup of sugar. Put the sugar and spice mixture in the holes left by removing the cores. Add a fourth cup of water for each apple in the pan. Cover the pan and cook on top of the stove over low heat. Turn apples once during cooking. Cook until apples are tender—usually from 7 to 15 minutes. The last minute before the apples are done, remove the cover. Take care not to overcook, for, once tender, apples cook to mush quickly. For this method of cooking, or for baking in the oven, it is important to choose varieties of apples that hold their shape well.

COOK EGGS SLOWLY
The secret of success in cooking eggs is to use moderate, even heat. Cooked this way, eggs will be tender when they are done. Eggs cooked at too high a temperature become tough and leathery. For breakfast, most people like

Scalloped Eggs and Macaroni
6 hard-cooked eggs
2 cups cooked macaroni
2 cups white sauce
Chopped onion, to taste
1/2 cup grated cheese if desired
1 cup bread crumbs
2 tsp. melted fat
Cut the hard-cooked eggs into quarters. Mix the cooked macaroni with the white sauce. Add the onion, and the grated cheese if used. Add the eggs, and pour into a greased baking dish. Mix the bread crumbs with the melted fat and spread over the top. Bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are brown.
